The program offers a well-rounded education with an emphasis on preventative care in a rural setting. The tertiary care facility provides the resident physicians the opportunity to work with primary care and specialty physicians caring for a large patient population. The diversity of the clinic keeps the residents up-to-date on all areas of FM from Obstetrics to Child Care, Chronic-Disease Management, and Palliative Care. Our association with the University of Maine's Athletic Department ensures those interested in Sports Medicine are well trained. The Osteopathic faculty and NMM+1 Program integrate manipulative medicine into both our outpatient and inpatient practices, providing well-rounded training and patient care.
